Leaving a Life-Saving Gift in Your Will

Once the needs of you and your loved ones have been met, you can leave a lasting, compassionate legacy by including a gift to BullyingCanada in your will, and keep helping bullied children in the future.

A Gift in Your Will Can Be Made As

A Residual Amount

You can make a gift of what remains in your estate after your other family commitments and disbursements have been made. This can be a benefit to you, since you won't have to keep amending your will and the size of your gift if your finances change after your will is drafted.

A Percentage of Your Estate

In the same way, you never need to adjust your will when your circumstances change if you assign BullyingCanada a percentage of your estate, after your family and other obligations are taken care of.

A Specific Dollar Amount

You can choose a specific amount for your donation. Or you can give assets like stocks and securities. Our brochure on gifts of securities explains how that can eliminate capital gains tax on your gift.

A Contingent Bequest

You can name BullyingCanada as the contingent beneficiary of a gift in your will, should your primary beneficiary pass away before you.

Benefits of Making a Gift in Your Will

Peace of Mind

You can use all the assets in your estate during your lifetime, and name BullyingCanada as the beneficiary of any funds or assets that remain.

Tax-Effective

Your estate receives a tax receipt that can reduce or eliminate the taxes it pays for the year of your death and the year before, so your kindness also lets you leave more to your other beneficiaries.

Revocable

Your will can be changed if your financial circumstances change.

Possible Wording in Your Will

To leave a gift to BullyingCanada in your will, please ask your lawyer to include our legal name, BullyingCanada Inc., and our Charitable Registration Number, 82991 7897 RR 0001. You can include one of the following statements in your will:

> I give, devise and bequeath to BullyingCanada Inc., Charitable Registration Number 82991 7897 RR 0001:
> - ___% of the residue of my estate; OR
> - the residue of my estate, for its sole use and purposes; OR
> - the sum of $_____; OR
> - my property known as _____ (for example, my shares in ABC Company, or my primary residence).

Gift Designation

Should you wish to direct your gift to a specific program or service of BullyingCanada, you may add:

> It is my preference that this gift be used for _____.

Amending an Existing Will Can Be Simple

If you don't want to rewrite your existing will, you can still support the lifesaving work of BullyingCanada by adding a gift through a codicil to your will. This usually costs much less than writing a new will.

Join Our Brighter Futures Society

Our Brighter Futures Society is a group of caring people who have told us they have pledged to remember BullyingCanada in their estate planning. We show our great appreciation for our members by listing them on our website. This public show of support shows others your leadership, vision, and compassion, and goes a long way to encourage other people to follow in your footsteps.

If you plan to make a legacy gift to BullyingCanada, or have done so already, please let us know by completing the Legacy Gift Confirmation Form on the next page and mailing it to us, or emailing it to Legacy@BullyingCanada.ca.

Independent Counsel Is Advised

We are happy to share ideas on ways you can create a memorable and meaningful legacy through your support of BullyingCanada. However, the ultimate responsibility for your finances, the tax implications of your donations, and local, provincial, or federal legal requirements rests with you and your financial and legal advisors. We strongly encourage you to seek independent advice when making a will, and when making gifts of cash, insurance, stocks and securities, registered savings, and property.
